

STAT MedEvac launches eManWeb™ Technical Publications Management Solution

AviIT, Inc. is pleased to announce that STAT MedEvac has launched the MedEvac industry's first web-based technical publications solution. eManWeb makes available all STAT MedEvac technical publications, OEM applications, ERP programs, electronic files, and other company maintenance documentation to all authorized users via the eManWeb portal.

“eManWeb gives me the peace of mind knowing that all technicians are using current data for required maintenance. Providing a “one-stop” shop for all OEM applications, maintenance manuals, documents and other electronic files needed to perform daily tasks is also a huge safety enhancement”.

Chris Cura, Director of Maintenance, STAT MedEvac

eManWeb virtually eliminates the need for costly duplicate subscriptions and ensures complete revision management, audit capabilities, compliance tracking and version control. eManWeb also allows temporary access to 3rd. party vendors with safety and security. There are no licenses to purchase, no hardware to install, and no long-term commitments.

Vince Doherty, Vice-President of AviIT, Inc. stated,

“With STAT MedEvac’s 17 bases of operation, covering four different states, technicians needed a solution for both local and remote access to the entire technical publications library with minimal bandwidth connectivity. eManWeb enables technicians connected to the internet with smartphones, PDA’s, or wireless internet cards to easily access the required maintenance information without waiting to download, and conforms with the FAA regulations”.

eManWeb. Your data, anytime, anywhere, over any network.
